

PRIVACY POLICY

Disclaimer

Futures trading has high opportunities and risks. If you want to invest in Futures Trading, you must first understand Futures Trading activities and the contents of the Transaction Agreement and Rules.

1. You understand that you will provide us with your personal information which we will use to open, manage and maintain your account with us.
2. We will not sell or pass on your personal information to third parties except for those we need in connection with our business operations. This includes credit card processing and verification centers, law enforcement agencies, regulators, auditors, and Introducing Brokers with whom we have business agreements. However, we may pass your information on to other companies in our group that we feel may be able to provide services to you.
3. We may use Google Analytics Advertising Features which allow us to collect information about the demographics of our website visitors. You can opt out of this at any time by contacting Google.
4. We may provide personal information to other margin trading companies seeking referrals, however this will not include details of any open positions.
5. We obtain most information about our clients directly from them, but we reserve the right to obtain information from other sources such as credit reference agencies or fraud prevention agencies.
6. We may use the information we have to help us provide better services or new products to you and our other clients through direct or indirect marketing.
7. All of our staff are fully trained in handling the confidentiality of personal information.
8. All personal information we store where possible in computer-based secure storage facilities. Otherwise we hold the information in secure paper based files. No unauthorized person can gain access to this storage facility.

9. Our website uses Social Plugins which may notify you that your browser is viewing our website. This information may also include your IP address. If you do not wish this information to be shared then you must ensure you are logged out of your social media accounts before viewing our website.
10. Our website may install cookies on your computer so that we can better serve your needs by knowing what parts of our site you are viewing and speeding up your navigation. You have the option of changing this functionality through your computer's settings if you wish, although this may affect your ability to view other parts of the website.
11. While we make every effort to ensure all information we hold is correct and current, it is your responsibility to notify us of changes to your personal information.
12. Users who do not wish to receive any more newsletters or email promotions may click on the link named "Unsubscribe" at any time free of charge listed in any emails sent by us in order not to receive future messages.